PROJECT SUMMARY

DIGIVOGUI is a Virtual Exchange project designed to enhance the personal and social competencies of young people, equipping them with the necessary tools for active citizenship and informed decision-making in their personal, educational, and professional lives. The project is structured around three key pillars:

- Conceptual and Methodological Development – Creation of theoretical a Theoretical Manual and a Practical Manual.
- Training for Youth Workers – Development of a MOOC (Massive Open Online Course) specifically designed for youth workers, providing them with structured training and resources to effectively guide and support young people.
- Interactive Online Course for Youngsters – Creation of a separate MOOC for youngsters, designed to help them develop key personal and social competencies.

By integrating digital media and innovative methodologies, DIGIVOGUI seeks to empower both youth workers and young people, ensuring they have the skills necessary for personal growth, academic success, and professional fulfillment.

DIGIVOGUI IN ACTION

"I really enjoyed the flexibility of the course. I could do a lesson during lunch break or before bed. The discussion forum helped me connect with other young people and share experiences. It made the course feel real and personal, not just theoretical."

"As a psychology student, I've always been drawn to the field of vocational guidance, but I often felt that I was missing practical tools to connect and young people in making meaningful choices. That's why I decided to join both DIGIVOGUI MOOCs.

What struck me right away was how practical and accessible the course was. Concepts that I had only encountered in theory suddenly came to life through clear examples and activities I could already imagine using in the future.

The module about Vocational Guidance was my favorite.

This course gave me a sense of direction for my own future as a psychologist. I feel more prepared, more inspired, and more confident that I can do a good job working in vocational guidance and youth support."

- Participant from Portugal

"The testimonies from the participants were very inspiring, it mirrored the reality of the young people today."
